CADDYBAR™ Set to Take Stage at the PGA Show's Prestigious Inventors Spotlight

November 5, 2024

CADDYBAR™, the innovative solution designed to elevate the golf course and personal golf cart owner experience, is thrilled to announce its invitation to participate in the PGA Show's Inventors Spotlight. This coveted opportunity places CADDYBAR™ among the most groundbreaking golf products showcased at one of the most influential events in the global golf industry.

The PGA Show, scheduled to take place January 21-24, 2025, at the Orange County Convention Center in Orlando, FL, is renowned for drawing top professionals, industry leaders, and golf enthusiasts from around the world. The Inventors Spotlight serves as a dynamic platform where innovative products gain visibility and traction, offering inventors unparalleled access to a highly engaged audience and key decision-makers in the sport.

CADDYBAR™ is excited to follow in the footsteps of past success stories, aiming to use the Inventors Spotlight as a launchpad for building valuable relationships, gathering essential feedback, and expanding its reach within the golf community. The event presents a unique opportunity for CADDYBAR™ to showcase its distinct value and innovative approach directly to golf professionals, enthusiasts, and other industry stakeholders.

"Being recognized and invited to participate in the PGA Show's Inventors Spotlight is a significant milestone," said Jonathan Smith, Founder of CADDYBAR™. "We are beyond excited to engage with the global golf community, share our product's benefits, and leverage this opportunity to create momentum that will drive our growth and impact in the industry."

CADDYBAR™'s inclusion in this premier event underscores the excitement surrounding its potential as a must-have accessory for golf clubs and personal golf cart owners. With anticipation building, the team is preparing to introduce its innovative solution to an international audience, looking forward to making meaningful connections that will propel the brand's future success.

About CADDYBAR™:

CADDYBAR™ is an innovative solution designed to elevate the golf course and personal golf cart owner experience. For private and public golf courses, it acts as a strategic enhancement to food and beverage distribution, transforming every golf cart into a mobile refreshment center while improving operational efficiency. For personal golf cart owners, CADDYBAR™ is the ideal companion for community rides, picnics, or enjoying a game day with added storage and convenience.

About the Inventor:

Jonathan Smith is a passionate entrepreneur and avid golf enthusiast who has combined his love for the sport with his innovative spirit to launch CADDYBAR™, recognizing a need for a practical, utility storage solution to securely carry various items on the golf course.

With a background in entrepreneurship and a deep appreciation for golf, Jonathan has positioned CADDYBAR™ as a must-have accessory for golf cart owners and a revenue boosting opportunity for golf courses seeking for an additional edge in enhanced customer experience. Before launching CADDYBAR™, Jonathan successfully founded and sold a cybersecurity and consulting firm after 20+ years in business.
